Sometimes the address says it all.

Small Companies Grow on The Vine, Irvine's Tech Incubator

Cheraia Williams, right, social-media manager for Socialite Agency, works in the company's office at The Vine.

By: Matt Morrison LA Times - Tucked away in a distant corner of an office park on the perimeter of UC Irvine, a small indoor/outdoor garden is nurturing business development in Orange County. The seeds are scores of small technology-related companies germinating throughout the shared office complex at The Vine. [Read More]
By Bret Kenwell The Street - Shares of Broadcom (AVGO - Get Report) are up 2% on Tuesday following a bullish reiteration from analysts at Sterne Agee. Broadcom reports earnings Thursday. "I am watching this quarter more closely than any other quarter during the month of March," Cramer said, reiterating the company's importance. [Read More]

Business Outreach Rally Ramps Up, New Benefits Announced for Volunteers

On Wednesday, April 27, 2016, over fifty Chamber members will again take to the streets of Irvine to share valuable business resources with business owners and managers and survey them for their opinions on doing business in Irvine. This will be the fifth Business Outreach Rally staged by the Irvine Chamber. [Read More]
Irvine-based Newport Corp. has agreed to a $980 million all-cash sale to Massachusetts-based MKS Instruments. The deal is expected to close in the second quarter. MKS said in a news release that it intends to use up to $800 million in debt to acquire the provider of lasers, precision optics and photonics to the defense, security and scientific research sectors, and will likely expand MKS’s market reach by $4.8 billion. Newport Corp. reported net sales of about $603 million in 2015 and net income of about $31 million. [Read More]